About Cindy

Cindy Wider is a Creative Identity Transformation Coach, speaker, author, artist, and qualified art therapist who has spent 34 years helping women discover that the creative identity they set aside decades ago has been waiting for them all along.

Cindy specializes in guiding retired professionals, particularly women from analytical and caring professions, to recognize that their analytical minds are creative advantages, not barriers.

A multi-award winning artist, her work has been exhibited internationally, featured on UK National TV and ABC Open, commissioned by major organisations and the Cairns Regional Council. The author of seven books including 'Your Creative Identity Transformation.'

Through her speaking, Cindy addresses the transformation that happens when women give themselves permission to create. She proves that drawing isn't about talent, it's about releasing limiting beliefs and stepping into a new creative identity.

Through her courses, private mentoring, and podcast, Cindy has personally coached thousands of women from "I can't draw" to creating stunning art and stepping into the most vibrant chapter of their lives.

Speaking Topics

- How to Awaken Dormant Creativity Through Drawing as the Carriage
